

News Chief Will Attend Conference

Mr. Guy Hickok Was at One Time Director of International News.

Expert on German Affairs

Mr. Hickok Refuses to Interview Hitler, Not Wishing to Act as His Mouthpiece.

Mr. Guy Hickok, who was for two and a half years director of short wave broadcasting to foreign countries for the National Broadcasting Company and is now assistant to Don Francisco in charge of radio on the Council of National Defense of the State Department, is the principal speaker on the Friday morning general session of the district teachers' association. He is scheduled to speak at 9:30, following a half-hour prelude by the All-District High School Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Glenn Ruff of the College faculty.

Mr. Hickok will speak on "Good Neighbor or Dictator, Who Wins Latin America?" He should be fitted to speak on this topic, for his position means that he serves on the Nelson Rockefeller organization for the Co-ordination of Commercial and Cultural Relations between the American Republics. He had completed a 13,000 mile trip around South America before taking this position. His purpose was to study the effect of American broadcasting. His chief, Don Francisco, is now making a similar tour.

Mr. Hickok's experience is wide. Before becoming director of short wave broadcasting at NBC, he was foreign editor, first of the Literary Digest and then of Newsweek. He was a war correspondent in the first World War, and for fifteen years afterward a roving correspondent in Europe, reporting diplomatic and political events, including the rise of totalitarianism in both Italy and Germany.

He is a shrewd man. While interviewing many persons in Europe he had the opportunity to interview Adolf Hitler, but refused to do so. "I did not interview Hitler," he says. "He was easy to interview. He wanted to be interviewed when he was a new figure, but I had learned by that time that a newspaperman interviewing would-be dictators was merely serving as a mouthpiece to spread the totalitarian doctrine—the last thing I wanted to do."

That Mr. Hickok is a man to be listened to is evidenced by his success with short-wave broadcasting for NBC. Until the war began, his short wave broadcasts in German and directed to Germany drew from anti-Nazi fans inside Germany as many as 600 letters a month. Even after the death penalty for listening was put on, some letters have trickled through. One letter which evidently was smuggled through, for it bore no stamp of a Post Office, was from a "Politel Inspector" in a large city saying, "Of course you know that we are not allowed to listen to you any more. I am happy to report, however, that reception is even better than it was in April."

With reference to his writing scores of articles from Germany on Nazi practices in 1932-33 and 1934, Mr. Hickok says, "People could not be waked up then; they are slowly waking up now."

The man who is to speak has seen South America recently and will probably give some startling facts about the operations of Nazis in the lands of the Southern neighbors.

Senior Class Selects Sponsor and Treasurer

The Class of 1942 held a class meeting in social hall on October 1, with approximately 60 seniors present, for the purpose of electing a new social adviser and a class treasurer.

Miss Day Weems was to have been the social adviser of the senior class but her resignation from the faculty necessitated the election of someone to fill her place. Mr. Robert Main of the speech department is the new social adviser of the Senior Class.

Florence Abarr was elected to the position of class treasurer to fill the vacancy left by Marlin Johnson, who has left school.

Niece of Miss Lowery Will Arrive Thursday

Mrs. Henry H. Stickney, niece of Miss Ruth Lowery of the College faculty, comes to visit her aunt, Thursday, October 2. She has recently reached the United States, having been among the women evacuated from the Philippine Islands. Her husband, Lieutenant-Colonel Stickney, remains on duty at Fort Santiago, Manila.

Lieutenant-Colonel Stickney and Mrs. Stickney visited in Maryville just before going to the Philippine Islands. They are known to several in Maryville.

Tower Staff Asks Students to Have Photographs Made

Appointments Are to Be Made at Table Which Will Be Placed in Hall.

Soon you'll hear the familiar cry, "Get your Tower picture taken!" Here is the way it will be done this year, according to Editor Donald Cummins and Business Manager Marvin Motherhead.

The Tower staff will begin making picture appointments Tuesday, October 7. A table will be placed in the hall on the second floor of the administration building where all appointments will be made. Representatives of the Tower staff will be there each hour of the day from October 7 to 17. Appointments made after this date will have a 25 per cent increase in price.

The procedure in detail: When you make your appointment, the person at the table will give you a card to fill out. At this time you will pay 75 cents, the cost of your class picture, for which you will be given a receipt. A list of organizations appears on the card. You will be asked to check the ones to which you belong. An additional fee of 10 cents will be charged for each organization you check if you wish to have your picture taken with the group. Thus if you have your picture taken with two organizations, you will pay a total of 95 cents.

Keep your receipt and present it to the photographer when you arrive for your appointment. Remember that he is scheduled for a certain number of appointments each day and that you must arrive on time or the photograph will not be completed as planned. Your receipt will be void and no refund will be made if you fail to arrive for your appointment at the stated time, unless the staff sees fit to make an exception.

The Tower staff is confident that with the co-operation of the students the 1942 yearbook will be one of the best ever produced. Probably the most important feature of any book is the photography, which the staff believes will be a success under the new arrangement this year. It is important, however, that everyone's picture appear in the Tower. Make your appointments early! Arrive on time! This will aid the staff in doing careful, unhurried work on the book.

Robert Turner Takes St. Joseph Position

Robert Turner, president of last year's Student Governing Association, has recently taken a position in the Industrial Arts department of the Benton High School in St. Joseph.

Mr. Turner has a major in Fine Arts and a minor in Industrial Arts. He was active in all of the art groups on the campus while in College. One of his own projects was the decorating of a window downtown each week with something typical of work being done in the College.

During the summer, Mr. Turner was employed by the J. C. Penney Company. He resigned from the position with the store to accept the teaching position in St. Joseph.

Durwood Maxted Writes Durwood Maxted, former student and assistant at the College library, is now working for Consolidated Air Craft in San Diego, California. He writes that he likes the West, and has seen several Maryville students. Albert Owens, who also attended the College, is in Los Angeles.

Alumna Wills Alma Mater Fine Painting

Miss Hattie Hall Leaves "Portrait of the Young Artist," LeBrun.

Because an alumna of the College was loyal to her Alma Mater, because she had a vision of what that College should be, the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College is richer today. The gift of this alumna has been displayed since the beginning of the fall term in a case on second floor, an oil painting which is a copy of "Portrait of the Young Artist," by Madame Vigee LeBrun.

Miss Hattie Hall, who took both the B. S. and the A. B. degrees from the College in 1919 and 1921, respectively, is the donor. Miss Hall had a keen and natural interest in art which dated from her childhood and which had been fostered by an intimate acquaintance with choice paintings which were collected by her father on a trip to Europe as a young man.

Upon her death in the summer of 1941, her will disclosed that she had specified that one of her paintings, a copy of the "Portrait of the Young Artist," should be bequeathed to the department of Fine Arts of the College. The bequest was in accordance with her interest in the department and manifest desire to see it grow and develop through the ownership and the display of examples of fine work. The Fine Arts department and the College are indeed enriched by the gift.

The painting is of large size, 32 by 39 inches, and is a copy of the original which hangs in the Uffizi Gallery in Florence, Italy. It was obtained by the father of Miss Hall, who, seeing the original work of art in Europe, admired it so much that he purchased a copy.

The painting is a self-portrait of Madame Le Vigee LeBrun (1755-1842), the French painter. It represents her as a young woman, with brush and palette in hand, clothed in a simple black dress and white turban and seated before a large canvas upon which she is painting. The portrait is in oil, very nearly life-size, and is noteworthy for its

Mr. John Rudin Is Speaking Sunday Morning at 9:30

Reverend Mr. Insley Was Leader of Discussion Last Sunday Morning.

Mr. John Rudin, who has recently been appointed to the department of Speech of the College, will be the speaker at the Sunday Morning Hour, on Sunday, October 6. The meeting will be held in the Horace Mann Auditorium at 9:30 o'clock.

Last Sunday Reverend Mr. Insley, of the Maryville Presbyterian church, spoke to the group. He emphasized the importance of a Sunday Morning Hour for students of the College and suggested that the study of the Bible during these meetings would be a great advantage to those attending.

A committee of students who were representative of the student body met with the faculty committee for the Sunday Morning Hour. Plans for programs were discussed and it was decided that the committee would appoint various student committees to arrange for the speakers and music for the meetings.

The Sunday Morning Hour is for those students and faculty members who are not connected with any Sunday School here in Maryville. The committee urges everyone to attend and help to make the campus Sunday School a success.

Missouri University Woman Will Address Artists' Luncheon

Art Club Members and Art Department Cooperate in Planning Affair.

Those who are interested in the administration or the teaching of the subject in the elementary field are fortunate to have the opportunity to hear Miss Vera Wulfekammer, head of the Department of Art Education of the University of Missouri, speak on the subject at the Art Luncheon of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers Association, Friday, October 10 at 12 o'clock at the Hotel Linville, under the auspices of the Department of Art and the Art Club of the College. Reservations may be made by mail through Miss Olive S. DeLuca or at the College on Thursday.

Miss Wulfekammer has done outstanding work in Missouri in art, is a past president of the Art Section of the Missouri State Teachers Association, is Chairman of the Missouri Art Council, and has written widely on the subject. She was a member of the Curriculum Committee responsible for the state course of study in art. Those interested in art and former Art members will find at the luncheon an opportunity to meet with former friends and art-minded people.

Association of Childhood Education Gives Fall Tea

The members of the Association of Childhood Education gave their Membership Tea in the Horace Mann Kindergarten on Thursday, October 2, from 4 until 6 o'clock. The tea was given for those interested in early childhood education.

The officers of the organization were in charge of the tea. They are as follows: President, Catherine Judson; vice-president, Frances Phares; secretary, Helen Matters; treasurer, Charlotte Meyer; reporter, Irene Heideman. Miss Millikan is the sponsor of the organization.

Mother of Coach Davis Dies at Tampa, Florida

Mr. E. A. Davis received word early this week that his mother, Mrs. Estella Davis, 81 years of age, had died at her home in Tampa, Florida, where she had lived for the last 25 years. She had been seriously ill for about two months.

Mrs. Davis, who had visited her sons in Maryville, is survived by three sons and four daughters. Her husband preceded her in death.

Class Begins Chip-Carving Mrs. Virginia Hill Dorman, a major in Fine Arts, is starting chip-carving with her class in the Horace Mann High School. The carving from original designs will be done on boxes and bowls.

Julian Bryan Brings News From Brazil

Wide Travel With Camera Produces Material for Illustrating Talk.

Julian Bryan who will show his motion pictures of Brazil and lecture here on Thursday evening, October 9, at 8:00 o'clock, under the auspices of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers Association, went there as a roving camera reporter this summer. Using the same human interest technique which distinguishes his documentary films of other countries from the usual travel pictures, Mr. Bryan's study of Brazil gives new meaning to the headlines from South America.

His lecture promises to be one of the treats of the Association's meeting. He speaks in person with his pictures. Impartial, fair, thoroughly informed on the country he presents, Julian Bryan is rated one of the best platform speakers in America. He makes it a habit to give his audiences opportunity to ask questions.

The president of Colorado College, at Colorado Springs, where Mr. Bryan has spoken says, "In all the time I have been here, I don't think I have known anyone to make a sounder or more enthusiastic impression than Mr. Bryan did. The school children, the undergraduates of the college, and the general public felt that he brought them something very much worth while. His pictures . . . are excellent, and his approach to the problem of Latin American relations is one that seems to get home to people."

A land of great contrasts, Brazil is a fascinating subject for the cameras. In the delta of the Amazon, Mr. Bryan photographed the primitive wild-west conditions on the island of Marajo where negro cowboys ride bareback, tending the herds of cattle and horses, and wage continuous war on the crocodiles which infest the marshlands. But in the beautiful capital city of Rio de Janeiro, his pictures show modern apartment buildings going up along the waterfront and surpassing anything New York can offer.

With the help of Mr. Bryan's lecture and film, American audiences will appreciate the problems facing the Vargas government, and the position Brazil occupies in any plan for hemisphere defense.

Lilette Holbert Tells Experiences to Class

Dr. Dow turned over her 11:00 o'clock French 11a class Wednesday to Miss Lilette Holbert, the personable young French woman who had so interestingly spoken of her experiences during the German occupation of France at the assembly held the hour previous.

To the French class Miss Holbert recounted her experiences during her trek from Paris to New York. She spoke thrillingly of her overnight train ride through Spain. In a train whose coach windows were in such a state of repair that falling snow blew into the train as if it were actually snowing.

She spoke further of the readiness with which the group, of which she was a part, ate their first real meal in months in a Portuguese inn near the Spanish-Portuguese boundary line. She also dwelt on the trip across the Atlantic and described eloquently the below-the-water-level dormitory in which she slept with 44 other women, 35 of whom were sea sick.

After her talk Miss Holbert answered questions put to her by members of the class. Her answers were of such intelligent quality that class members came away from the session feeling that they had obtained a much clearer insight into the actual situation in Europe today and a very good idea of what goes on in the mind of the people of France.

Former Reporter Goes South to New Position

"Former Student Makes Good" might well be the head for a story written about Glenn S. Hensley, Jr., former student of the College, who was married two weeks ago to Imogene Utz of Pattonsburg, enrolled here this quarter before her marriage.

Not only has Mr. Hensley succeeded in achieving his desired career, but he has done so through pursuing the activities he began while here.

He was remembered by many of this year's seniors as a fellow who was always on hand when there was news, in his capacity as a reporter for the Missourian. He served in that capacity while the paper was under the editorship of Frederick Schneider and Paul Strohm respectively.

Always a camera "bug", he took many pictures that were accepted by and printed in the Missourian and the Tower. He was staff photographer for the 1939 Tower.

Enrolling in the Missouri University School of Journalism following his sophomore year here, he was graduated from that school last spring with honors.

He accepted a position as editor of the Bunker Hill (Ill.) News-Gazette following his graduation, resigning from his duties only a few weeks ago to take a position as a photographer under United States Civil Service, in Mobile, Ala., where he and his bride are residing.

Mr. Hensley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn S. Hensley of Stanberry.

Two Accompanying Blue Raider Team Express Opinions

Army Morale Is Good They Say; Men Live Regulated Lives in Camp.

"Contrary to opinions which you may hear expressed, army morale is good," said Corporal Ed. L. Nano, chief photographer for the "Jefferson Barracks Hub", in an interview prior to the Bearcat-Blue Raider football game last Friday night.

"Men in the army have a chance to live better regulated lives than they have ever before. The army program has always been and will always be a builder of men. Only those fellows who do not yet realize the great benefits to be derived from the training are kicking," he went on to state.

Corporal Nano's statement was echoed by Private Arthur Goshorn, Jr., publicity head and sports editor for the paper, who with Corporal Nano accompanied the Jefferson Barracks team here to cover the game for the "Hub".

Both men attended the dance held in the women's gymnasium Friday afternoon. They were very favorably impressed by the college orchestra and by the democratic spirit with which they were greeted by students of the College.

The dance reminded me of my own college days," said Private Goshorn, who is a member of the Grinnell College for two years before entering the service of Uncle Sam.

Interest Is High At the game Friday night the men stated that interest in the game was so high at Jefferson Barracks that the "Hub" which normally goes to press on Friday afternoon, was being held up for a midnight deadline so that the story of the game could be wired to it.

Both private Goshorn and Corporal Nano are enlisted men, as are all members of the Blue Raider football aggregation. "As far as I know," stated Private Goshorn, "there is not a drafted man in the outfit."

The Blue Raider team, the men explained, is a part of the permanent personnel of the barracks.

Costa Rican Man Arrives to Study Physical Education

Spanish Speaking Student Thinks Countrymen Will Not Like Football.

Among new students at the College this quarter is one, Alfredo Cruz, who hails from San Jose, the capital city of Costa Rica. Mr. Cruz is a sophomore, having attended the University of Costa Rica a year and a half.

Mr. Cruz is majoring in physical education. It is his intention to return to his own country after he has studied here and to give to his people training in the athletic sports of this country.

In Costa Rica Mr. Cruz is quite an athlete in his own right. The sports in which he excels, however, are much different from those which are played most in this country. Holding down a major position in the Costa Rican sports world is the game of soccer. It comes, according to Mr. Cruz, as close as anything to our game of football. There is, however, a great deal of difference.

Sees First Football Game Mr. Cruz had opportunity last Friday night to view his first football contest when the Bearcats played the Blue Raider team from Jefferson Barracks. He liked the game very much, although he had some difficulty in understanding it. This difficulty was alleviated to some extent by Dean Jones and other helpful persons who contributed explanatory comments while the game progressed.

Of the game Mr. Cruz said: "The other team was much bigger than the Maryville team, but it lost because it had very poor team work." Mr. Cruz hopes to learn football well enough to play it while he is here. He does not think, however, that the game will be played, to a great extent, in Costa Rica. His people, he thinks, will never really take to it.

Finds Language Difficult Although Mr. Cruz studied English five years in Costa Rica, he finds the language here difficult to understand. Our manner of pronunciation is much different from that which was taught him in his own country.

This is Mr. Cruz's first trip to the United States. He has, he says, enjoyed his short stay here very much. The people of Missouri, and, more especially, the students of the College, have made him feel that he is very welcome.

Prior to coming to Maryville, Mr. Cruz spent ten days in New York City. While there he witnessed a Jai-Alai match which made him feel completely at home, the dangerous sport of Jai-Alai being one of the more widely played games of Costa Rica.

Most strange to Mr. Cruz is our food. It is prepared so differently from that of his own country that it has been hard for him to accustom himself to it. He feels certain, however, that when he has been here a little longer he will become orientated to our methods of food preparation.

Miss DeLuca Speaks in Iowa At the invitation of Miss Anna D. Engle, superintendent of the schools of Taylor County, Iowa, Miss Olive DeLuca, chairman of the Department of Art visited Bedford Saturday, September 19. She held an all day meeting with one hundred or more county teachers, giving suggestions as to the work for the coming year and criticism of proposed plans for that same time.

Rachel Day Marries Miss Rachel Day, of Villisca, Iowa, was married last August 31 to Mr. Randolph Anderson, of Stanton, Iowa. Miss Day attended this college, and has been teaching at Stanton.

Mr. Kerensky Brings Wide Experience to Bear on Discussion of Europe.

Recently Escaped Nazis

Eighteen Hundred People Are Expected to Attend Meeting Held at College.

Some eighteen hundred teachers of Northwest Missouri will spend Thursday and Friday, October 9, 10, in Maryville attending the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association. The unusually large attendance is expected this year on account of the fact that the state meeting will be held in St. Louis. The attendance at the district meeting is always less on the year the state association meets in Kansas City than it is on the year it meets in St. Louis.

Many noted speakers have been secured to appear on both general and departmental programs. The program is full from nine o'clock in the morning until ten at night.

One of the speakers who is expected to be unusual interest to those who will attend is Alexander, one-time Premier of Russia.

Narrowly escaping capture by the Nazis when the forces of the Third Reich invaded France and swept toward Paris is only one of the adventures in the life of Alexander Kerensky that should make what he has to tell of interest to those who will have the opportunity of hearing him when he speaks at the fifth general assembly of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers Association on Friday afternoon, October 10, at 3:00 o'clock in the College Auditorium. His topic is "The Effects of Recent Events in Europe."

The speaker was Premier of the short-lived Provisional Government in Russia during the spring of 1917. He is and always has been an ardent democrat. He was for that reason deposed by the Bolsheviks. With a price on his head, he remained in Russia in disguise until well into 1918 when he made his flight from that country aboard a British destroyer. Since his escape he has lived abroad in England, Czechoslovakia, Germany, and France.

When the Nazis were driving toward Paris, he and his wife obtained a second-hand car and fled the French capital on June 10, and headed for the Spanish frontier. Their car was bombed in Paris and along the road to Chartres. Gasoline and food were almost impossible to obtain along highways which were choked with millions of civilian and military refugees.

They were turned back at the Spanish border and finally secured passage on the last British boat to leave from the south of France. Their difficulties, common to all those fleeing before the invaders, were recorded in the diary of Mrs. Kerensky who wrote: "Our situation was desperate, there was no food to be had. The restaurants and hotels were closed. There were dreadful thunder and hail storms. One day we had only a cup of chocolate at four in the afternoon. Another day we had a tin of herring and tomato sauce that I found."

Mr. Kerensky is the author of several books, "The Russian Revolution" and "The Crucifixion of Liberty," and of numerous articles in publications here and abroad. He is also the editor of a magazine widely circulated among Russian emigres throughout the world.

Mr. Kerensky is reported to be a fine speaker. When he spoke on the Town Hall program, James B. Pond, editor of Program, had this to say of the former Premier's speech: "At the conclusion, Director George Denby thanked Mr. Kerensky for three things: his coming, his excellent command of English, and for the most important speech ever delivered from the Town Hall (N. Y.) platform."

Residence Hall Women Entertain New Faculty

The women of Residence Hall will entertain the faculty women with a tea Sunday afternoon, from 4 until 6 o'clock. The tea is to be in honor of the new women on the faculty.

The following committees have been appointed by Peggy Cunningham, vice-president of the Hall: Invitations, Betty Jo Snow, and Sue McGraw; Reception, Betty Drennan, Betty Gay, Janice Jordan, and Helen Adams; introduction, Peggy Cunningham, Betty Jane Harazin.

End of line, Shirley Hallen, Jimmie Lou Anderson, Lois Cisco, Mary Margaret Tilton, Betty Bower, Dorothy Henry, Elaine Gorschuch, and Gene Culp; music Dorothy Cronkite, Hilda Hamblin, Charlene Barnes, and Doris Spicer; removal, Sara Ann Young, Genella Pemberton, Eva Marie Swann, Eileen Isom, Aileen White, Marlene Osborn, Eric Quinn, and Marie Gilliland; refreshments, Nadine Allen, Doris Lauber, Joyce Fink, Marjorie Coats, Jean Strong, and Margaret Arnold.

Whole Colony of Bees Are in Room 224

A glass hive containing active honey bees living their normal lives, although in somewhat restricted quarters, has been recently set up in Room 224 of the College Building. This project is part of a scheme to introduce various forms of plant and animal life in suitable situations for observation by classes in biological science. It is hoped that this intimate association with these really genial little fellows will bring an appreciation not now possessed by numbers of people.

The hive in Room 224 is so arranged that the bees may come and go at will through its having been placed against a window slightly raised from the bottom. Care has been taken to see that the bees cannot enter the room. Since the hive has been placed, many people have availed themselves of the opportunity to observe the busy family of bees.

Bees, similar to many of their order, are somewhat of a race of Amazons in that the dominant individuals are the females. The three castes to be found in a hive are easily distinguished. The well known workers to be seen gathering pollen and nectar from flowers leave and return to the hive in large numbers during the warmer seasons of the year. This division of from 30,000 to 50,000 in number constitutes the greater part of the usual colony. They are females with imperfectly developed reproductive organs and do not ordinarily lay eggs. The young bees of this caste termed "nurse bees" do most of the work of the colony while the older individuals range to the field to collect stores of pollen, nectar, propolis, and water.

The queen, as may be observed in the colony in Room 224, is longer and larger than the workers. She is produced in a very large specially constructed vertical cell and is fed royal jelly, a very nutritious food supposedly secreted in certain glands of the nurse bees. It is in the favorable environment during growth which distinguishes the fully developed queen from the workers, for it has been demonstrated that in the egg stage no difference exists between these two castes.

The queen, being the only normal egg-laying member of the hive, has a full time job to keep ahead of the death rate among the workers in the active season. Assuming an average active worker life of seven weeks, the rate of replacement must be 1000 per day to maintain a population of 50,000. In considering the relatively short life of the honey bee, it appears that the workers emerge with a definite amount of ability to do work and when their energy is expended death ensues. Apparently they have no recuperative power, and their duration of life is limited by the amount of work they do. Very few bees are found to die in the hive because during the active season, when the death rate is high, the final food of some form of sugar proves too much for them, and they end their lives making the last futile attempt to return home.

Drones or males are large heavy bodied individuals which have been reared in special cells. They are relatively few in number and are to be found chiefly in early summer. An unusual phenomenon of honey bee life is the music of flight which is produced by uniform wing motion sufficiently rapid to cause a note similar to that produced by the oscillating reeds of a musical wind instrument. As a rule, the note caused by the wings is constant for each species of insect. However, the physical condition of the singer has its influence. The vigorous active bee, makes the A of 435 vibrations per second or 26,000 per minute. The tired and less active one hums on the E of 328 vibrations. Tuning forks are sufficient to determine the notes of insects but a graphical demonstration of the rate is more convincing. Such a demonstration has been made by fixing a ing the last futile attempt to return home.

CONDUCTING OURSELVES
Two weeks ago in an assembly presented by the music department, a college senior was seen and heard reading to another senior. This is not the first time that such actions have been observed at assembly programs, but it was more noticeable because it occurred during a particularly dramatic musical selection. There are other annoyances that, collectively, make up a general nuisance, such as rustling of programs, shuffling of feet, and dropping of books and pencils.
Young men and women, by the time they have reached college, should have sufficient control of their metabolic processes to enable them to sit reasonably still for a full hour. It is possible that some students do not enjoy every assembly program, but whatever the program consists of there are certain rules of courtesy and decorum that every person should know and abide by.

A NOISELESS PATIENT SPIDER
A noiseless patient spider,
I marked where on a little promontory it stood isolated,
Mark'd how to explore the vacant vast surrounding,
It launch'd forth filament, filament, filament out of itself,
Ever unreeling them, ever tirelessly speeding them.
And you O my soul where you stand,
Surrounded, detached, in measureless oceans of space,
Ceaselessly musing, venturing, throwing, seeking the spheres to connect them
Till the bridge you will need be form'd till the ductile anchor hold,
Till the gossamer thread you fling catch somewhere, O my soul.

Quotable Quotes
"Some things can and should be postponed for the emergency that is today. But there are some things that cannot be put off until the end of the crisis. First among these are the training and exercise of the critical and inquiring mind, of the creative imagination. Today we need them desperately to save what is good in the world we have. But tomorrow we shall need them even more to build the world we want to have."—Dr. Helen C. White, national president of the A. A. U. W.
"You can't let the home folks down."
President Uel W. Lunkin
"National defense and welfare are dependent upon the development of a strong, healthy people. A positive program of physical, mental and social fitness is needed. This program must start in childhood and youth to lay the foundations for healthy adult life. It is a long-range program. Children, youth and adults need to learn a variety of leisure time skills, such as are offered in physical education, for use now and in the future. Frustrated, neglected, or bored people have low morale. Physical education renders an indispensable service to morale improvement through the development of leisure time skills and the opportunities which it offers for their expression."—Frank G. McCormick, University of Minnesota athletic director.
"The number of high school teachers who come to us each summer, eager to take graduate work in journalism because they find themselves poorly prepared for responsibilities which have been thrust upon them by their school administrators, leads me to believe that we have here a very weak link in our teacher-training program."—Kenneth E. Olson, dean of Medill school of journalism, Northwestern University.
"There is an evil greater than a war and that is human slavery. Either you go down in dishonor or you put forth all your effort in this moral crisis."—Edward C. Lindeman, professor of philosophy at New York School of Social Work.

From the Dean
Reading is one of the important activities which college students are called upon to do. By means of reading many of the ideas and ideals held to be important in the success of college students may be acquired. "Its peculiar function is to bring the individual into contact with some of the vast experience which is essential to any understanding of our complex civilization." But, Betty Co-Ed and Joe College, how well do you read? Have you ever seriously tried to improve your reading habits? What are the essential habits you should develop to improve your reading ability in each subject? I am sure your instructors can offer suggestions—why not give them a chance?

Biology Department Has Copper-head Captured by Ted Adkins Near Graham
Darting his fiery red tongue with its black tip to register his annoyance at being disturbed, a copper-head snake otherwise pays little attention to what is going on around the box in which he is housed in the biology laboratory. Mr. W. T. Garrett proudly exhibits the snake to those who wish to see him, telling them that when the copper-head has completed sloughed off his skin he is to be killed and become a part of the collection of snakes being preserved in the laboratory.
Mr. Garrett and Mr. P. D. Evans, another authority on snakes, are of the opinion that this copper-head was found farther north than the species has ever been found in Missouri. It was captured by Ted Adkins south of Graham. The only other copper-head in Mr. Garrett's collection was found near Forbes, several miles farther south than Graham.
The copper-head is one of the four poisonous snakes: the rattler, the cotton-mouth, the copper-head, and the coral snake. It is said to be the least deadly of the four. It is a hematotoxic snake, as are all of the others except the coral snake, which is neurotoxic; that is, its poison affects the blood, whereas the poison of the coral snake affects the nerves.
This copper-head, Mr. Garrett believes, is of maximum length. Thirty-seven inches in length is the maximum length recorded for a copper-head found in Missouri. It is of a beautiful copper color with brown markings. Its head is a brighter copper color than its body. It is a pit viper, the pits being plainly visible between the eye and the nostril. It is almost a perfect specimen except for a slight injury inflicted when it was being captured. It is sluggish now, as is approaching hibernation period.
Lou Ellen Ambrose, who was a freshman here at the College last year, is attending school at Ames, Iowa. She was a vocational home economics major.

Quad Highlights
Allan "Babe" Poll, the basketballing freshman from Chicago who has had Quad residents puzzled with his unorthodox antics since the beginning of the term, has them even more befuddled since his disappearance into evident oblivion. Poll put on his disappearing act Thursday evening of last week. Even his roommate and close confidant, Joe Lauchiskis, was unable to account for his whereabouts.
Not only was Poll's disappearance puzzling to Quad residents, but also it accounted for some disagreeable news. Poll, whose duty it has been to peel potatoes in the Quad kitchen, failed to do so Thursday; consequently the potatoes served at the evening meal were a bit on the raw side. Ralph "They're - after - me" Strange has taken over Poll's potato peeling duties.
Present indications are that when basketball season rolls around, the Quad will be well represented. Answering Coach Stalcup's recent call for cage men were six stalwart Quad residents, including Curtis Nelson, Gerald Parsons, Joe Lauchiskis, Allan Poll, John Rudolph and Ted Intin. When the current grid season ends the Quad will be even better represented on the basketball court. Several Quad inhabitants who play football intend to report to the hoop squad at that time.
Tracksters, Millard Fourt, David Murphy, and John Lanham, have been working out regularly on the cinder paths. Though they will not get into competition in the sport of their choice until next spring, they are training vigorously. It is their intention to remove any excess weight which they would normally gain during a winter's hibernation. They also wish to guarantee themselves an abundance of lung power.
With the basketball call issued by Coach Stalcup there crept into the nightly bull sessions in the dormitories, a note of basketball which had hitherto been conspicuously absent. Jack Padilla waxed so eloquent concerning the merits of his "K. P." intramural five that he was accused of attempting to spirit prospective varsity timber away from Coach Stalcup.
In the room occupied by Bob Shankland and Ted Woodward there occurred recently a four-way religious argument. Other participants in the discussion were Emerald McKay and Gene Trimble. The arguments offered were, if not exactly eloquent, certainly loud—so loud in fact that occupants of the adjoining room pounded on the wall to signify their feelings concerning the discussion.
In a recent pre-dinner speech, Mr. Lon E. Wilson, Project Supervisor, announced the fact that football squad members who were unable to make the regular six o'clock dinner deadline would be served at a later hour. The suggestion, according to Mr. Wilson, came as a result of a suggestion by Coach Ryland Milner who wanted to have the extra time to drill the boys for coming football tips.
Olie James, N. Y. A. Trainee, sports a bandaged head and eye these days. Rumor has it that James received injuries when he came too violently into contact with a fist at a dance on a recent evening.

Chatter
Several students who were sitting on the edge of their seats Tuesday morning waiting for the Walk-out bugle to blow were definitely disappointed. "Chattanooga Choo-Choo" would undoubtedly rate first on the STC hit parade this week. . . . Now that rush week is over we will probably be seeing the pledges appearing in the usual initiation garb. . . . Dr. Kleinpell says he wants to write an editorial. . . . There were several students with sore throats after the Jefferson Barracks game, probably due to the sensational touchdown by little Jack Padilla. . . . Secret homecoming plans in the making. . . . It won't be long 'till time for your Tower picture. . . . Did you eat your one o'clock class this week to listen to the World's Series? Tsk. Tsk. . . . Football game with Chadron tonight. . . . life-likeness and freshness of color and rendering.
Madame LeBrun was well acquainted with the French Court of Louis XVI and was an intimate personal friend of the queen, Marie Antoinette. Indeed, she was so associated in the public mind with the Court that she found it necessary to leave France shortly before the French Revolution and to reside abroad in Italy, Russia, and England.
Two of her best known paintings are the "Portrait of the Queen, Marie Antoinette," which hangs in the Pitti Palace in Florence, and that of "Madame LeBrun and Daughter," which hangs in the Louvre. The young artist in the portrait owned by the College and the mother in the latter picture are self-portraits made posing before a mirror. Although the three-fourths view of the head and other positions are used by artists for self-portraits, the pose most frequently assumed is the front view used in the College's painting.
Madame LeBrun was a member of the French academy and in her memoirs wrote of her special admiration of Rubens and Van Dyke. In painting, she first drew the outline in charcoal; then, using a light brown paint, she put in the outlines and shadows and finished with the deep colors of the final painting. She is noted in painting for simplicity and directness of her style. Her paintings always depict a happy outlook upon life, despite the turbulent and warlike period in which she lived.
The copy of the LeBrun painting will hang permanently in a conspicuous place in the department of Fine Arts in the Administration Building of the College. The College plans to clean the portrait, repair the frame, and place a suitable name plate on it.
The frame on the picture is characteristic of the period and greatly enhances the portrait itself. It is made of wood, with a plaster coating, which in turn is covered with gold leaf.
This gift from a loyal alumna of the College will hang as a memorial to her memory. It will as time goes on become more and more one of the treasures of the College.

The Stroller
An hour before the deadline and the Stroller's mind (???) was blank. His assistants all had failed him, the keyholes were all stopped up, but still he must have a column. Finally he settled down to write, but finding something out of nothing is a task indeed quite hard. But he took his thoughts at random and here is the result.
The Stroller had always considered Jim Ellison as one of those "woman-haters," but evidently he has reformed. Perhaps Ellice Isam and Shirley Hallen could tell us why. Remember the old saying that "Gentlemen prefer blondes"?
Little Alice Newlon, who never misses a class, seems to have a steady date with Dean Jones. At any rate she seems to be camping around his door-step quite a lot lately. She might try going to class for a change.
Dorm girls seem to prefer Maryville boys. Perhaps it's because the town boys have access to their father's cars. How about it Margaret Irwin? Jack Leuck does have an awfully nice car.
One romance which seems to be quite lasting is that of "Hatch" and Elmore Peck. At any rate they seemed to have eyes only for each other the other day at the dorm.
Some of the dorm girls have managed to work their boy friends and the Hashslingers into shoeshine boys. Well, there are tricks to all trades and college girls soon learn them.
The Stroller has his eye on this little girl from Durango, Colorado. Haven't you boys noticed that snappy coupe yet? Maybe you don't get as tired of walking as the Stroller does.
Poor Bill Winter's is carrying his arm in a sling now as a result of an injury received in practice Monday. A certain little Maryville girl seems to be suffering worse than he is. Oh, well, don't worry too much; he'll get well soon.
The Stroller's vote for the "cut-up" of the Kindergarten class goes to Sydney Friday afternoon. You should join dance club, Sydney.
Several of the Maryville girls did well with the Jefferson Barracks athletes. The Stroller thinks they were a little selfish about introducing their boy-friends, for she spent an hour trying to get an introduction to the man Frances Elam was with Friday night.
The Stroller has been devoting his time to the new romances on the campus and has neglected to mention some of the old stand-bys. Among these old-faithfuls are Louis Horton and Irah Mae Busby, Erwin Schneider, and Jella Adkins, Merrill Ostrus and Charlene Barnes, Howard Bauer and Frances Smith, and Jimmy Summers and Beulah Wilkinson.
The Stroller did her good deed for the day when she sent flowers to Barbara Kowitz to console her for the loss of her dear Marlin Johnson. Only she should have sent the music department a bouquet too.
Monday evening the Stroller listened in on "triple trio" practice, but to his amazement discovered twelve girls. It must have become a "triple quartet." Even the first four notes sounded pretty good so the Stroller is expecting big things from this organization. Incidentally why not combine the girls with the Dance band sometime.
The new lad from Costa Rica is fine-looking. Could that be the reason why so many girls, including the Stroller, are brushing up on their Spanish. Anyway the Stroller hopes he enjoys his life here.
Among this week's new twosomes, a topic always in demand, are Betty Dremann, the lively little drum majorette from Corning, Ia., and Bill Bennett, Wanda Sloan and Buel Snyder, Connie Curnutt and Gordon Overstreet, Helen Adams and Benny Davidson, and Barbara Garrett and Royce Higdon.
Have you heard the sound of thunder in our halls lately. It's only the fraternity pledges being paddled by some of their worthy brothers. Just wait until the pledges become actives and a new group of pledges come in. Then they'll have their revenge.
The Stroller, like the freshmen, is demanding walk-out day. It should be renamed "work-out" day for the Stroller and the poor freshmen.
Well, there is a saying that all good things must end, and indeed the Stroller is no exception, so please bear with this poor excuse and he'll do a lot better next week. Good bye, be good, and if you can't be good, you'll make the Stroller.

The honey bee was brought to America some three centuries ago. Swarms escaped into the forest where free from control of man they have built their nests in hollow trees. Hunting of these so-called bee trees became in time a favorite sport and pastime for pioneer settlers. Honey Creek in Nodaway County is said to have been so named because of the numerous hollow trees containing bees.

Department Groups Will Hear Special Programs in Field

Many Well-Known Leaders Will Appear on Other Than General Program.

Department programs offer a wide variety of subjects and many speakers, who should have worthwhile things to say. Specialists have been secured for leading discussions.

Dr. Fredrick Seamster will speak Friday, October 11, at 1:00 o'clock in Room 207 of the Administration Building on the topic, "High School Guidance." Mr. Seamster is the Director of Vocational Guidance for the state of Missouri, working from the office of the State Superintendent of Schools in Jefferson City. He was called to Missouri from Michigan two years ago by Mr. King, State Superintendent, to take over the guidance work in this state. Mr. Seamster represents both the Federal Government and the state of Missouri in this work in as much as both contribute to his salary. Mr. Howard W. Leech will speak at 2:25 o'clock Friday afternoon in Room 207 of the Administration Building on "The N. Y. A. Student Work Program." Mr. Leech graduated from this college in 1923 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Education. For a number of years he was Superintendent of Schools at Odessa, Missouri, and is now the High School interviewer for the National Youth Administration, working from the N. Y. A. Area office at Chillicothe. Mr. Leech is the donor of the Howard Leech medal given each spring to the man who excels in sports and scholastic ability.

Dr. Arthur H. Bradford will address the department of English teachers on the subject of "The Role of the English Teacher in the World Crisis." Dr. Bradford is head of the English Department of Nebraska State Teachers at Peru, Nebraska, and has had wide experience in high school and college in the fields of English and speech.

Dr. Bradford will speak Friday afternoon at 1:15 in Room 208 of the Administration Building. Mr. John L. Bracken, who will speak at the Departmental Session

Thursday afternoon in the Auditorium of the college at 2:00 o'clock, has for the past ten years been superintendent of schools at Clayton, Missouri. He is classed as one of the state's leading superintendents and is a popular lecturer and student of education.

Mr. Charles E. Brisley, of the State Highway Safety Bureau, will speak on Thursday afternoon, October 9, in Social Hall at 1:15 o'clock. The subject of his address is "The Possibilities and Benefits of Driver Education in the High Schools."

Mr. W. L. Evans, director of high school supervision in the state department of education at Jefferson City, will speak to the high school guidance and administration group. Mr. Evans' topic will be "The New Administrative and Curriculum Bulletins." Mr. Evans is especially interested in the New Secondary Course of Study and in seeing that it is read and followed. He will be glad to answer questions about or discuss any phase of the New Secondary Course of Study or any other administrative or curriculum bulletins.

Mr. Evans will speak Friday afternoon at one o'clock in Room 207 of the Administration Building. Dr. William E. Drake, who will address the teachers at the state teachers' meeting Thursday morning at ten o'clock, is the Associate Professor of the History and Philosophy of Education at the University of Missouri. Dr. Drake's topic is "The Education of Free Men in American Democracy."

DR. GERALD WENDT

Famous Speaker Will Lecture on Utopian Science

World War Veteran Sees Vision of World Which Science Is to Make.

Utopia is just around the corner for modern housewives, says Dr. Gerald Wendt, famous scientist and author, who will lecture here on "The Challenge of Science" at the meeting of the district teachers' association at the 3:00 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, October 9. In a few more years houses and furniture will be made entirely of plastic materials, no more wood to paint or polish. Draperies and rugs will be of synthetic products—cheaper, more durable and more beautiful than those in traditional use. Lighting will come from a central source, just as heat does today, and, instead of sending out their things for periodic visits to the cleaners and laundries, housewives will simply turn on the garden hose, Dr. Wendt states.

In no field of modern science has there been in recent years greater development than in household furnishings and equipment and in synthetic foods, he states. As a matter of fact Dr. Wendt thinks that a whole new industry—comparable to developed around designing and building pre-fabricated houses and their modern contents. He feels that this is undoubtedly one of the long-awaited new industries which will pull us definitely out of the depression.

Dr. Wendt has seen the operation of scientific experiment and technological advancement from the viewpoint of research worker and college professor as well as from the viewpoint of the industrialist and the business man.

His first position, after receiving his Ph. D. degree from Harvard University, was with the U. S. Bureau of Mines. He then became a member of the faculty of Rice Institute in Houston, Tex., and from there went to the University of Chicago. His teaching career was interrupted by the World War and he entered the government's service as a Captain in the Chemical Warfare Division.

After the War he was made director of the research division of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and was later placed in charge of the Battelle Memorial Institute for Industrial Research at Columbus, O. Returning to University work, he was appointed Dean of the School of Chemistry and Physics at Pennsylvania State College and soon promoted to the post of Assistant to the President in charge of the University's research program.

He has served as director of science and education at the New York World's Fair and as editor of "Chemical Reviews," an internationally known scientific journal, and the contributor to many other scientific publications. He has also written several books on scientific subjects.

Jean Huffman spent last week-end visiting friends at Residence Hall.

Dance Will Close Day of Activity For Homecomers

Franklin Bithos Plans Many Activities for Returning Grads.

A dance, to be held following the football game next Friday, will culminate Homecoming Day activities. Committees, under the general chairmanship of Franklin Bithos, have outlined a full evening's entertainment for Homecomers. The details are purposely being kept secret in order to inject an element of surprise into the proceedings. Franklin Bithos is assisted by the following committee chairmen: Decorating committee, Mary Frances Todd; Property committee, Bill Wright; Reconstruction committee, Franklin Ewing; Faculty sponsors committee, Mary Frances McConfrey; and Publicity committee, Mary Frances Young. A special committee is headed by Bob Elmsinger.

Gara Williams Is to Be Married on Sunday

Miss Gara Williams of Maryville will be married Sunday, October 5 to Nathan Toolson of Centralia.

Miss Williams graduated from the college with the class of 1938. She was a home economics major, and she was very active on the campus, especially so in the art club, on the debate team, on the Northwest Missourian Staff, with Varsity Villagers, and with the Barkatze.

After graduation Miss Williams taught one year and a half in Centralia, Missouri and then transferred to Jefferson City, where she taught a year and a half.

Mr. Toolson attended the University of Missouri.

After a wedding trip to the southwest part of the United States the young couple will reside in Centralia, Missouri, where Mr. Toolson is employed in the A. B. Chance Manufacturing Company.

Vaughn Means, former student of the College and pastor of the Methodist Church in Barnard, has been transferred to the Forest City-Portsmouth churches.

Irene Hoover spent the week-end with her family in Blockton, Iowa.

Southerner Will Address Assembly Thursday Morning

Former College Dean and President Has Given Countless Lectures.

Dr. James Shelby Thomas, author, lecturer, and former President of Clarkson College of Technology, Potsdam, N. Y., will address the assembly Thursday morning, October 9 at 9:00 o'clock.

Dr. Thomas has occupied many important positions in his many years of public service. Some of these positions are: college professor, college dean, State High School Inspector for the State of Alabama, Chief Economist of the Commonwealth Southern Corporation, as well as many positions as officer on various civic clubs.

During the past thirty years Dr. Thomas has delivered 375 commencement addresses, some 1800 addresses to high school assemblies, more than 105 addresses before chambers of commerce and business organizations, more than 225 talks before luncheon clubs, women's clubs, university clubs, and forums, farm bureau meetings, and community organizations.

The Birmingham Age-Herald, Birmingham, Alabama, said in an editorial upon the announcement of his acceptance of the presidency of Clarkson College:

"Alabamaans, aware of all that James Shelby Thomas has meant in the life of this state for two decades will receive with mixed feelings the announcement of his election as president of Clarkson College. They will regret that they are no longer to have among them so vital a figure. They will rejoice that his gifts have been recognized in so striking a fashion."

"In Alabama, Jim Thomas has stood for a dynamic conception of education, for a culture which is not afraid of being democratic, for an understanding based upon knowledge, but bearing its richest fruit among the masses. If we had possessed more men with his capacity for making things clear to people, it is not too much to say that the position of our schools would be different today. If we had more men with his power for being equally at home on the campus and the platform, in the schoolroom and the clubroom, public opinion among us would be much better informed, much more vigorously directed toward the solution of a problem which has cast a shadow upon our civilization."

"Dr. Thomas goes to an institution which is well-endowed for the forwarding of 'those interests' which he has been creatively concerned in recent years. As an economist and an industrial expert, he will be at home in an institution which is devoted to the training of engineers. He takes to this post an experience rarely to be found in a person with his talents. One can predict for Clarkson College under the Thomas regime not merely an intensification of the fine service it has been rendering but an intensification so shaped and aimed that technical education will soon be aware that a new star has swam into its ken."

"It is not merely Alabama, it is the South, which is being deprived of one of its choice leaders. The Virginian who came to Alabama for the purpose of giving fresh momentum to its educational progress now goes to New York to lend his vision and vigor to the development of a splendid college. It will not be the first time that the North has been enriched by a Southerner's charm and ability. Nevertheless, the friends of Dr. Thomas who are no more to enjoy his human quality as well as his intellectual grasp will miss him deeply. But they would not be his friends if they did not wish him Godspeed in his new setting."

Dr. Geo. H. Denny, President of University of Alabama, "Dr. Jim Thomas is not only the finest speaker in the state of Alabama, but he is the best speaker in the South."

Letter From Unie van Suid-Afrikaanse Comes

"We have already received copies of the Northwest Missourian, and are looking forward to receiving further copies," writes Miss Roslyn Traub from the Nasionale Unie van Suid-Afrikaanse Studente, 4 Verd., St. Georgesstraat 148, Kaapstad. She says she is indeed glad that the College is willing to exchange publications with South African Students.

The letter comes from this young lady in Cape Town (Kaapstad) in reply to one of the editor of the Northwest Missourian last spring, Miss Bertha Milred Nelson, wrote to say that the staff would be glad to send the papers the Union of South African Students had asked to have sent.

"We have arranged a system," says Miss Traub, "whereby all overseas student publications are displayed on a special table in our University libraries, so that they are available to all students; your sayings and doings will therefore be given the widest currency among our students. I hope our exchange will flourish and develop into something lasting."

To date the papers from South Africa have not been received by the Northwest Missourian.

State Superintendent Will Address Meeting

Those who attend the fourth general assembly of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association will have a very special treat in an address, scheduled for 10:30 o'clock Friday morning. He has not announced his subject, but will probably speak on problems as the State Department sees them.

Mr. King needs no introduction to the teachers of the Northwest district. As State Superintendent of Schools, he has talked often here at the College and is known personally to many who will hear him.

Mack Johnson spent the week-end with his parents at Hopkins.

MR. M. R. INBODY

President of State Association Will Talk

"Schools During and After a National Emergency" is the topic on which Mr. R. M. Inbody will speak on Friday morning in the College Auditorium. He will share honors on the program with Mr. Guy Hickok and the Honorable Lloyd W. King, State Superintendent of Schools. Dean J. W. Jones of the College faculty will preside.

Mr. Inbody is president of the Missouri State Teachers Association and will bring to the district association one of the major problems confronting the whole state of Missouri as well as the state association. His message will be directly to the teachers who are working in the elementary and high schools of the state.

Collegiate Digest Will Use Candid Photographs

Collegiate Digest, the national roto supplement for college papers, is looking for timely, human-interest pictures of events that happen on the Maryville campus. It will pay money for them. Camera enthusiasts should note the following:

1. Mail the pictures to Editor, Collegiate Digest, 323 Fawkes Building, Minneapolis, Minn.
2. Payment of $3.00 for each photo used will be made upon acceptance.
3. Good quality glossy prints are essential. Only pictures that are sharp in detail and have good tone quality will be accepted. Action or candid photos are preferred.
4. All pictures must be properly captioned with full details.
5. Unused prints will be returned to the sender.

France Under Nazi Regime Is Subject Used in Assembly

Young Student Who Sought Safety in Flight Tells Harrowing Experiences.

Speaking with ease and with a fluency that is remarkable in a young student—she is only a junior in college, with this work in a foreign college at that—Miss Lilette Holbert, formerly of Paris, France, and now of Sioux City, Iowa, told of her experiences when the Germans took possession of Paris.

She spoke first of the feeling of the Parisians and of French people in the north of France when the news came that the Germans were coming, of the uncertainty, of the lack of organization, of the flight of police and inspectors, of the excitement, of the congestion, of the lack of transportation. She with her mother and sister were in Paris. Not being able to get advice about what to do—whether to go or to stay—they decided to leave the city. Packing what necessities they could in knapsacks, they boarded a subway which carried them out twenty miles. From that point, they were forced to walk, joining hundreds of other refugees.

Miss Holbert told of her varied experiences on the refugee-packed road south of Paris. She, in company with her mother and a sister, caught the last subway that left Paris before the German occupation. Upon leaving the subway they were forced to walk because of the lack of transportation facilities. Miss Holbert was separated from her sister and mother. Her adventures on this phase of her journey furnished many amusing, as well as many tragic anecdotes. Her story of the mother who carried a dead child in her arms, refusing to believe that it was dead, was a pathetic illustration of war grief. An episode that proved amusing both to Miss Holbert and the audience was her description of catching, killing, and drawing a chicken. As the speaker put it, "I opened one end of the chicken and so many things came out I didn't think there would be anything left to eat."

She had walked 65 miles when a group of Germans caught up with the group she was with and ordered them to return to their homes. When the young Frenchwoman returned to Paris she had walked 107 miles.

Miss Holbert stated that the Germans were always polite; but while they paid for articles purchased in French shops, they paid with nearly worthless German marks.

Miss Holbert ended on an optimistic note saying that the majority of the French people are now pro-British after nearly capitulating to the Nazis.

The young Frenchwoman captivated her audience with her pleasant appearance and engaging personality.

Chadron Nebraska Teachers Play Bearcats Eleven Tonight

University of Iowa Man
Has Developed Strong
Team in Eagles.

Bearcats in Fine Shape

Several Maryville Regulars Have Recovered From Injuries and Will Play

After defeating the Jefferson Barracks Blue Raiders last week when the odds were heavy against them, the eBearcats will meet the Chadron Eagles here tonight for the third home game of the season. The Maryville squad is in fair shape with the exception of two injuries.

Chadron has a well-drilled and well-coached team. Their mentor, Coach Armstrong, is from the University of Iowa.

For the past two years the Bearcats have defeated Chadron by a score of 27-0. Last year, on the Eagles' field, Jack Padilla, the 147-pound back from Stuart, Iowa, proved his ability as a ball carrier and runner, when he intercepted a Chadron pass and raced to the 28 yard line. He is back on the line-up this year and again proved his running ability Friday night when he intercepted the Blue Raiders' pass and scored for Maryville.

Bruce Peters, speedy freshman back from Orient, Iowa, will not be in the line-up tonight, because of injuries received in last week's game. William Winters, of Raytown, also a freshman, will be unable to play tonight. Neiland Thompson, junior tackle, who received an injured ankle two weeks ago, will be back in the line-up.

Former Quad Men Write Mr. Wilson, Supervisor

Over the week-end Mr. Lon E. Wilson, Quad Supervisor, received letters from two former N. Y. A. trainees who, last year, stayed at the Quad and are this year in the Service of Uncle Sam.

Private Clifford W. Harmon who last year was "Mayor" of the Quad and one of its most popular residents was drafted into the army last September 9. He is now stationed with the Thirty-second Medical Training Battalion at Camp Grant, Illinois. In his letter Mr. Harmon expressed regret because he was not at the Quad again this year. He also stated he had derived much benefit from his N.Y.A. training.

The other letter received by Mr. Wilson came from Norris S. Peters, who is now at the Thirtieth Air Corps School Squadron at Scott Field, Illinois. Mr. Peters contemplates applying for the aviation cadets in communication or navigation. His letter to Mr. Wilson was in the form of a request for a letter of recommendation which, he thought, might help him toward that end.

Barracks Team Is Handed Defeat by Improved Eleven

Bearcats' Passing Clicks
As College Team Rides
Over Soldiers.

Maryville's Bearcats outplayed the St. Louis Jefferson Barracks Blue Raiders here last Friday night, winning 13-0 in their second non-conference game of the 1941 season. The Bearcats exhibited much well organized teamwork and seemed to have been clicking nicely throughout the entire game. The Barracks line was firm, holding the Bearcats' team for very short gains and in many plays threw them for serious losses. The Maryville team started the game with a series of extremely successful surprise plays for good gains. Their power lasted all through the game.

The first Bearcat score came about the middle of the first quarter. Peters, Maryville freshman, returned an Army punt from the 45 yard line 15 yards and the touchdown came after four more plays. The first of these four plays was a spectacular 31 yards pass from Schottel to Bennett, who after snatching the ball stumbled and fell only four yards from the goal. After two line plays without gains Bennett stepped back and hurled a quick short pass over right end to Schottel who stepped across the scoring line for the touchdown. Gregory's kick for the extra point was in vain; the score remaining 6-0 favor of Maryville.

The second quarter was filled with many thrilling plays resulting several good gains for each team but no scores. Padilla and Bennett stepped off several good runs for Maryville and Cone did the same for the St. Louis Soldiers. The half ended Bearcats 6, Blue Raiders 0. The Raiders received the kickoff starting the last half. Early in the third quarter following a few minor plays the Barracks' team attempted a pass which speedy little, Jack Padilla intercepted on about their 40 yard line and as the crowd roared he sprinted down the field and over the goal for the Bearcats second touchdown. This time Gregory booted a nice placement kick for an extra tally making the Bearcat score 13 to 0 in the remaining portion of the game no scoring occurred. Cone and Owens completed some pretty passes and runs for the Jefferson Barracks. The Maryville Teachers also pulled some clever plays for many thrilling gains. Bennett dashed around right end once for 22 yards. Gregory intercepted an Army pass. Winters, Bearcat freshman, returned a punt 22 yards and followed that with two good runs, the last resulting him an injury removing him from the game. Bruce Peters, another Bearcat freshman of the backfield, also made some good runs behind excellent interference and line work. Stanley Totorattis, new player at end position, and Frank "Spec" Myers broke through the Raiders' line and broke up many of their plays and throwing the Army for several great losses. As the game ended the Army held the ball on their fourth down and with 53 yards to go.

Recently several of the Bearcats have been injured in scrimmages and were not permitted to play for very long periods in the game. Captain Schottel played most of the game but was handicapped by injuries. Padilla, Thompson, Flammang, and F. Myers were also handicapped by injuries.

New Cheerleaders Selected Are to Lead Cheering

Dancette and Pep Rally
Will Introduce New College Yells.

A Dancette and Pep Rally will be held this afternoon in the old West Library by the new cheerleaders, who were selected last Friday afternoon before the Maryville-Jefferson Barracks football game. The selections were made by a special committee of the Student Senate assisted by former cheer-leader Bob Elsminger.

Those selected were given tryouts at the game that night. They are: Helen Adams (captain), Beverly Blagg, Nadine Allen, Evelyn Oyerly, and Gene French.

New yells have been added to the regular college repertoire and it is hoped that a goodly number of students will attend the rally to familiarize themselves with the new yells. If anyone knows any new yells that could be used their contributions would be very much appreciated.

Sigma Phi Group Announces Plans Promoting Sport

Object of Club Is to Give Women Opportunities to Perfect Swimming.

Actively began again this fall in Sigma Phi, the women's swimming organization, with aparty last week. Miss Maxine Williams, new physical education instructor is the sponsor of Sigma Phi this year and has worked out an ambitious program in conjunction with the president, Betty Drennan.

The object of the club is to promote the sport of swimming among the women on the campus, and all women who would like to learn to swim, or to improve their swimming are invited to attend the weekly meetings at 7:30 each Monday night. Instruction will be offered to all in all swimming skills from beginning swimming to senior life saving if desired.

The only requirements are the usual rules of non-wool bathing suit, cap and shoes, plus a swimming permit from Dr. Anthony's office.

For the girls who do not choose to swim, badminton, shuffleboard, ping-pong and other minor sports will be provided.

An intramural contest will be held soon between the Blue and Gold teams, traditional Sigma Phi groups, to settle the question of this year's ownership of the Sigma Phi trophy which has been in the hands of the Gold team for the past two years.

The Sigma Phi demonstration of swimming techniques, life-saving skills, and novelty stunts has always been one of the more interesting attractions offered the visiting seniors on the annual spring Senior Day and an early beginning on plans this year promises to make the demonstration more interesting than ever.

All college women who are interested in the sport of swimming, either to improve their swimming ability, or to learn in the friendly Sigma Phi group are invited to come to the gymnasium next Monday night at 7:30.

Tri Sigmas Initiate Fifteen at Ceremony

Fifteen girls pledged the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority at the initiation held Wednesday night following rush week. The initiation was held at the chapter house.

The pledges are: Margaret Irvin, Bethany; Glee Palm and Marcia Kraschel, Farragut, Iowa; Nadine Allen, Kellerton, Iowa; Vivian Foley, Weston; Vernelle Bauer, Mary Hartness, Elizabeth Lippman, and Geneva McDowell, Maryville; Jean Gilpin, Fauett; Aldyce Whitehill and Mona Alexander, Shenandoah, Iowa; Dorothy Blank, Coin, Iowa; Eleanor Peck, Fairfax; and Rosella Sample, Stewartsville.

College Geometry Class Is Added to Curriculum

Five young men are enrolled this fall in College Geometry, a new course added to the curriculum. Members are Richard McDougall, Franklin Ewing, Robert Runnels, Edward Shelton, and Paris Stewart. Miss Katherine Helwig is teaching the class.

This course was added at the request of students who are preparing to teach mathematics in high school. Putting this course into the college curriculum is in line with the recommendation of the American Mathematical Society that every prospective teacher of mathematics have such a course.

Says PAUL DOUGLAS,
well-known radio announcer

Somebody whistles a few bars of a catchy tune.
Others pick it up.
Soon the whole country's whistling it. It's a hit.

Somebody lights up a cigarette.
Likes it. Passes the word along.
Soon the whole country's smoking it.
It's a hit. IT'S CHESTERFIELD.

The big thing that's pushing Chesterfield ahead
Is the approval of smokers like yourself.
Chesterfields are definitely Milder,
Cooler-Smoking and Better-Tasting.
They're made of the world's best cigarette tobaccos
Blended just right to give you more smoking pleasure.

But even these facts wouldn't count
If smokers didn't just naturally like them.
Once a smoker finds out from Chesterfield
What real smoking pleasure is, nothing else will do.
Yes, fellow smokers, IT'S YOUR APPROVAL
THAT'S PUSHING CHESTERFIELD AHEAD.

Everywhere you go They Satisfy
